

The ringless voicemail proposal is a bad idea. I do not want my personal cell phone appropriated by cruise ship tour operators or Viagra salesmen. I cannot imagine how the FCC could think that ringless voicemail could possibly be in the public interest.